dowdy, michael (sr.): a training ground in which we are prepared for life drury, heidi (frosh): a place for opportunities and growing. It's also a place for discipline, which we hate but will benefit from someday.
drzazga, april (jr.): big and blue

duarte-jennings

duarte, dorian (frosh): a school where you come to learn and see your friends dye, whitney (sr.): I like that we finally broke the tradition at the Friday night Homecoming game this year! WOOHOO!

dye, k'lah (sr.): the highest concentration of good and bad experiences; having fun with friends in class, and at football games, cool teachers; getting in fights, breakups, boring classes, losing football games. Wa-Hi is memories.

dye, teddilynn (jr.): like Jell-o, and we, the students and staff, are suspended in it, which is too bad because everyone loves Jell-o

edwards, blaid (soph.): the only public high school in the Walla Walla school district, mascot Blue Devil. Go Blue!

eng, breanna (sr.): a stepping stone towards my future

eng, loren (sr.): High school is like a monster cookie. Sounds scary, but when you see all the different M&Ms, chocolate chips, oatmeal, and nuts, you realize you wouldn't want it any other way!

erb, troy (frosh): a school where you go to learn and hang out with friends erickson, annie (jr.): nap time between swim practice. Just kidding... only SOMETIMES.

erwin, holly (sr.): hitting Mr. Ahrens with a sledge hammer while he lays on a bed of nails

eshelman, katrina (jr.): I like a lot of the classes they offer here, but I don't like how the office is run eski, emma (frosh): a safe place where students can learn, have fun and grow together

evans, ryan (soph.): a place that gives you something to do even when you want to do nothing

F

farr, matthew (jr.): a war zone, where, in assemblies, the loudest grade is the most powerful of them all

felix, daniela (frosh): a place you go to, learn about all kinds of things to meet new people and teachers

fernandez, karina (sr.): a big house that's surrounded with a lot of people with colors, and I like being one of them

feucht, alex (soph.): the place where I get a good education while still having fun and making friends field, tori (soph.): a caring school, great place to socialize figueroa, travis (sr.): a nice school to be at when teachers are working, a place that you can enjoy filippo, aaron (jr.): a temple of learning flores, laura (sr.): really important high school. It means a lot for me because it's where I want to graduate flores, jesús (jr.): great, but some teachers are unfair flores, edwin (frosh): everything. A home, an educational environment. I wish I wouldn't have to leave in three years.

floyd, lindsey (jr.): Wonderful, Awesome, Honorary, Individuals for, gordon (jr.): a place where students can learn, make friends, get involved and become greater than they are now

fortney, kelsey (soph.): wacky and hecka interesting foster, deidra (frosh): it's the best school I've been to so far. I feel safe and it's a great school to learn new things

fowler, alli (sr.): a place where students can gain lasting, meaningful friendships and grow into an intelligent, well rounded individual franco, manuel (frosh): a school that is fun, nice and better than all the other schools you've been to freiberg, danika (frosh): a hugenormous school with a ton of people and lots of friends

froese, paul (sr.): Ferenz and his 5 o'clock shadow

fuentes, beatriz (soph.): spirit and home of the Blue Devils

fuentes, monica (frosh): I have made so many friends and the teachers are so nice to you. I LOVE Wa-Hi.

furrow, destiny (soph.): a place where students learn from their mistakes and are taught to be cautious with who they are

G

gaither, josh (sr.): drama, some fun, but mainly drama

gallinat, nathan (soph.): a last stop before college, provides academic assistance garcia, aurora (frosh): it helps you get closer to college, hang out with your friends and try to have fun garcia, jorge (sr.): my god. I pray to it every night.

garcia, jr. osbaldo (jr.): it's a high school. It's pretty awesome, I guess, besides the homework.

garduño, aime (frosh): a place for fun, new people and a great way to learn many new things garret, tyler (sr.): school and swimming garrett, austin (frosh): all around a place better than middle school

gies, andrew (sr.): like a bunch of legendary elders who pass on knowledge to the students so they may one day become Spartan warriors

gilbert, josh (jr.): (noun) 1. result of victory 2. awesome staff and even awesomer students 3. great place, duh gillespie, tyrel (soph.): a place that has a lot of rude people that won't answer why they don't like you. Ask them yourself. They will give you a good truthful answer.

glaser, andrew (soph.): an awesome place with an amazing campus goble, emylee (frosh): Walla Walla High School. The best high school ever! Anything less than the best is a felony.

goins, serena (sr.): a place where students can come together to improve their learning and relationships golden, jenny (soph.): a place to meet new people and learn more than just class work

gonzalez, ruby (sr.): a place to be away from parents and with friends, without getting in trouble for it gore, cody (frosh): a good place for students to learn and prepare for life after Wa-Hi gorkovchenko, aksana (soph.): my second home and family!!!

gorkovchenko, alesia (frosh): a big school with many kids. Very friendly and fun, we learn a lot.

greenwood, kendra (sr.): watching Mr. Frenz talk to the band and dressing up like pregnant Ms. Monahan for a day

groom, randii (jr.): LOVE J

gutierrez, javier (sr.): fun and nice place, love the open campus

H

hairston, neshika (sr.): teamwork, because everyone at Wa-Hi works as a team

hastings, matthew (jr.): an atmosphere where you can hang out with your friends, learn new ideas and have an overall fun time heath, rebekah (frosh): a place to learn and a place to meet and hang with friends

heiser, jordan (frosh): a place to come and have fun hanging out with friends and learning heitzman, jason (soph.): a place to stalk--I mean--meet people henckel, allison (soph.): a place to learn, grow, have fun, enjoy life and be forced to complete homework hensly, katelyn (frosh): a place where you can be yourself and have about a billion friends hernandez, jose (jr.): a place to have fun at, a friendly place and a place to learn. Learning can be fun. Time flies if you have fun.

hernandez, alek (sr.): getting involved in sports and competing with other schools

higgins, brittany (frosh): best high school ever... and a good escape from middle school hill, miranda (frosh): more freedom, responsibility and purpose

hoffman, cody (soph.): a place to gain knowledge and a place to hang out with friends. Wa-Hi is a second home.

holbrook, corrine (sr.): one more brick on the yellow brick road to the Wizard of Oz! (called life)

homes, meagan (frosh): a chance to let us grow and express ourselves, giving us the chance to reach the stars, to understand our world; all of this is accomplished through the teachers who guide us

hoppen, becca (jr.): I perceive our school as a toolbox of resources for success, a fair of social diversity, a field to grow relationships and a reminder that I am not a morning person

hui, jeni (jr.): going to school from 7:30 am to 2:30 or 3:30 p.m. and an extra two to three hours of homework humphreys, devyn (frosh): a huge place to see your friends and flunk some classes

hurlburt, tyler (sr.): a place where I can wear a suit on a Wednesday and see others doing the same huxoll, mckenzie (jr.): Wa-Hi means a lot to me! It's a chance to hang out with friends, laugh and just have and all around good time!

I

ingram, phillip (jr.): expensive for students to pay for activities. Sometimes you can be cheap.

J

james, ryan (jr.): just the place to get your fix! ... Of school. Get your mind out of the gutter.

jara, cynthia (frosh): a lifetime of experiences and successes

jennings, ellie mae (frosh): a place I can go to get away from home, to spend time with friends and to have fun

Walla Walla High School

The Royal Blue

2008-2009

by definition

High school is a defining period in our lives. It's the time where you discover the person you're going to be. You participate in a club or sport and realize it's not for you. You might have to do this three or four times, but eventually you find something that fits—something that defines you. That's the definition of high school.

The 2008 ASB officers pose for a picture using the motto "Know Your Rank" that the seniors put together for the first pep assembly.

ASB 2008-2009

The ASB officers take a quick photo after school in their formal wear. The officers were really busy planning for Big Blue Weekend but took time out of their day for a fast photo shoot.

Delusional Daydream

One day, which was a Tuesday, in November a fellow named Chim Richards enrolled at Wa-Hi. Chim seemed to be a normal gentleman until he took off his hat and revealed his baldness. He ended up being 65 years old.

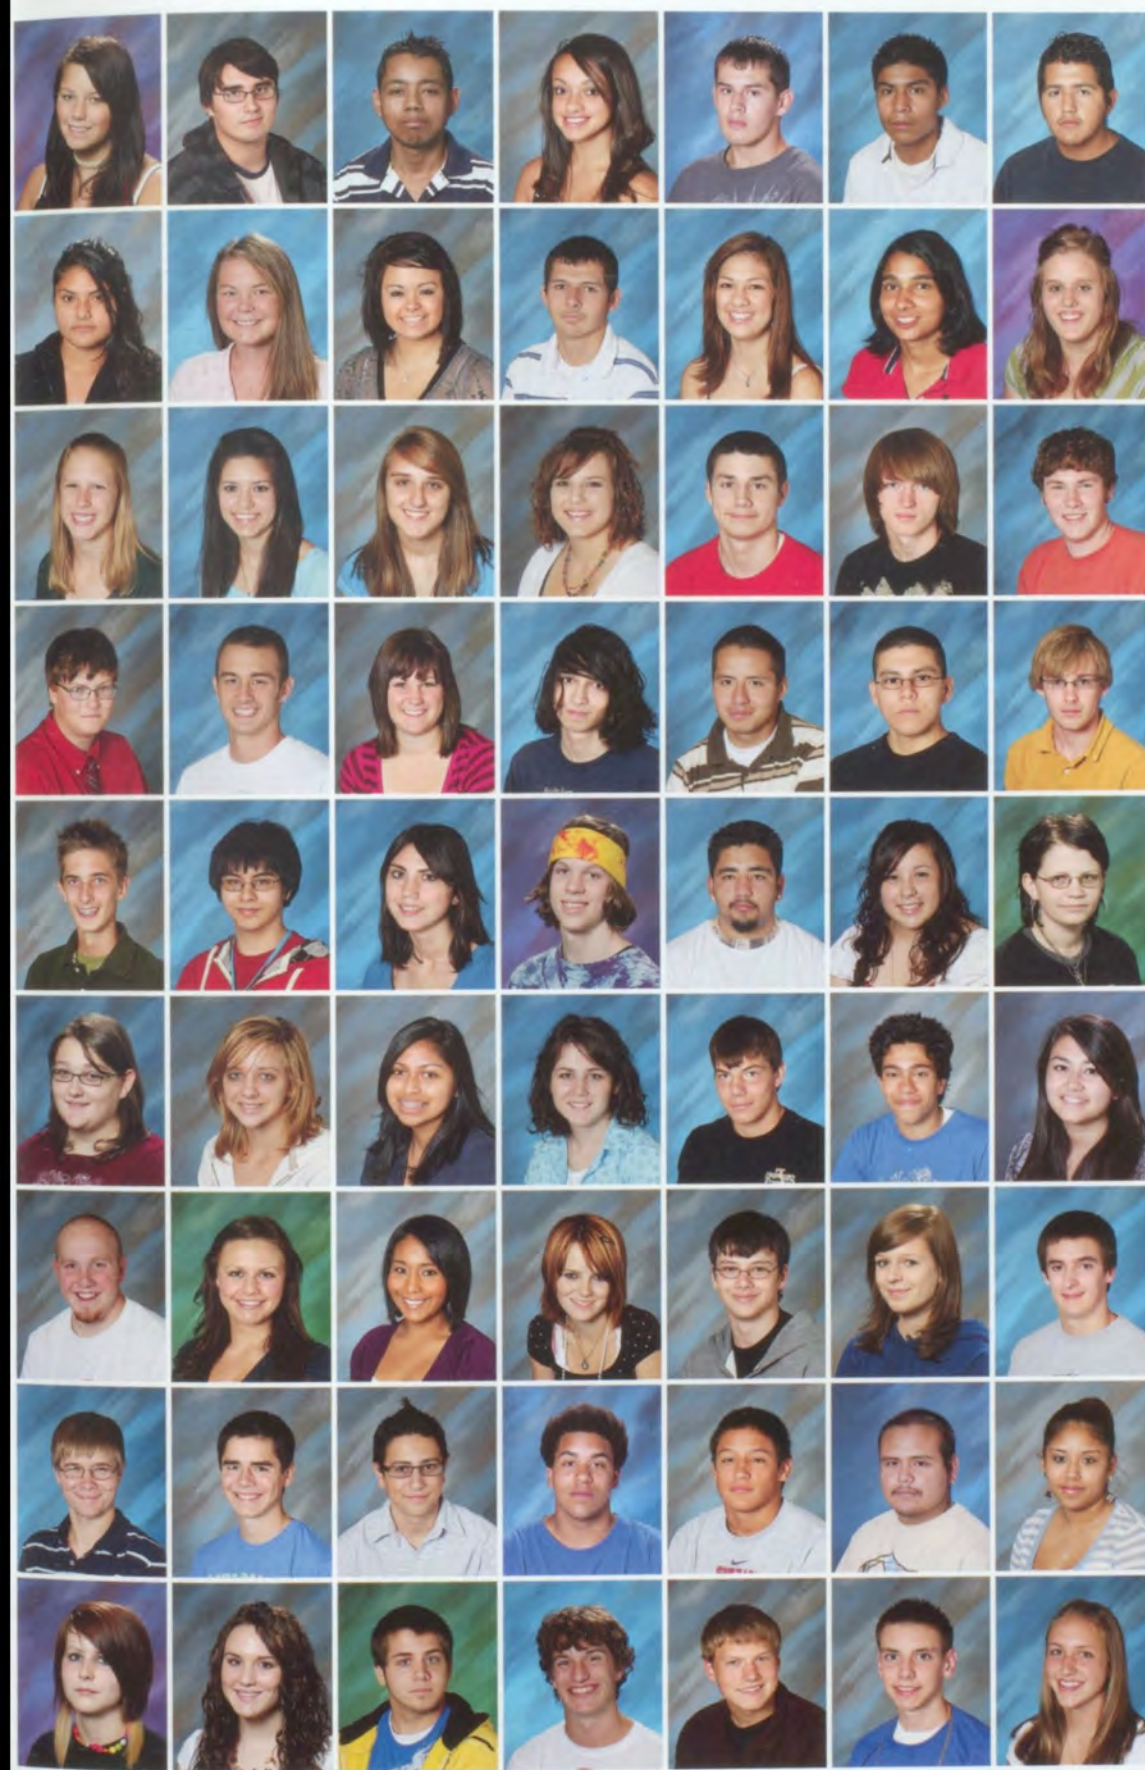

Ryan James

At lunch Chim tried to sit with kids, but the kids wouldn't let him sit with them. He quickly became sad. He had no friends so he became friends with the lunch lady.

Sweat dripped from their bodies as he picked up his weapon and began to put it to use. The white fluffy enemies were coming at him in every direction.

Homecoming Gone Wild

Once upon a time at my Freshman Homecoming, I got to see lots of new people. They all seemed like aliens and were equipped with ten fingers and seventeen eyes.

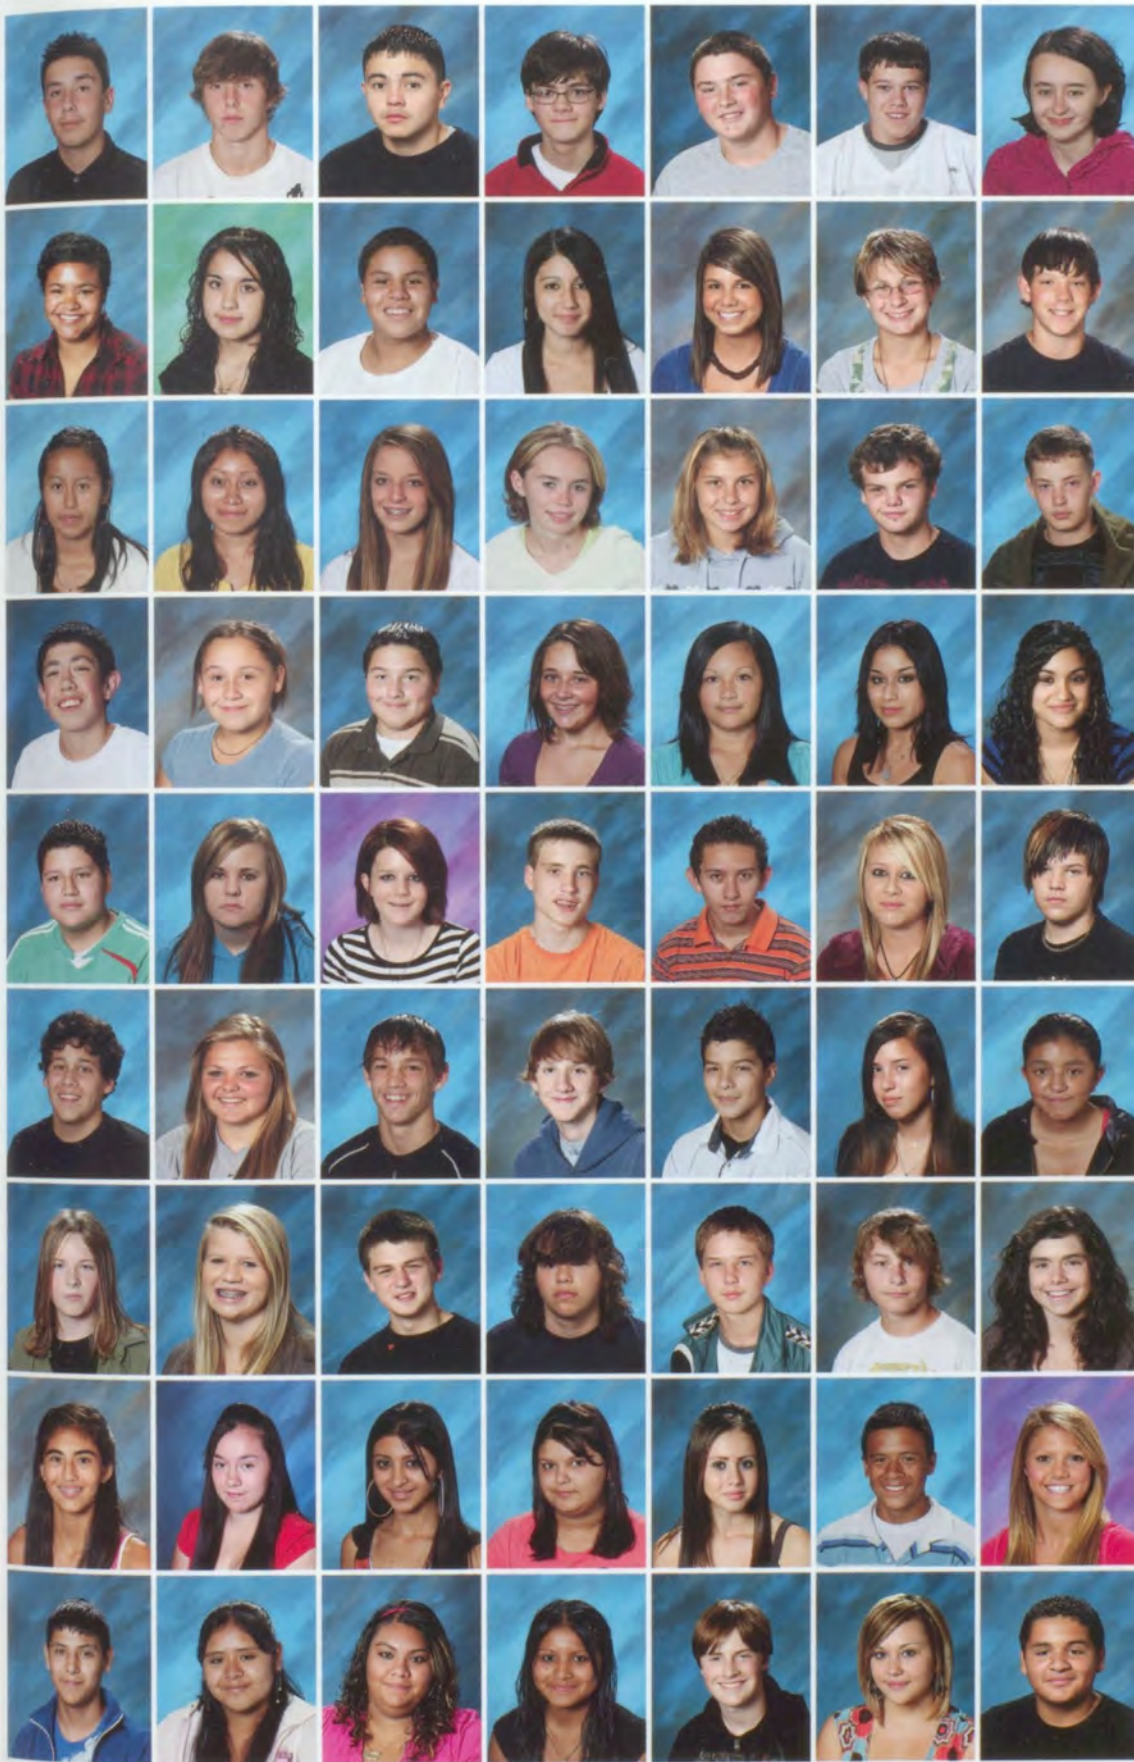

Chase Barsness

The aliens were purple and hairy. They were also on fire. They smelt good and it made me hungry.

School spirit couldn't hide from Wa-Hi! During Homecoming Week, everywhere you looked, people could be found cheering, laughing and showing Devil pride.

Senior boys huddle up to configure a game plan to dominate their junior opponents.

Without a doubt the most spirited week at Wa-Hi, Spirit Week has always been packed full of ways for pumped up students to display their enthusiasm. Students are provided with an abundance of opportunities to get involved! With assemblies, activities during lunch, dress-up days, and after-school events like Buff Puff and Powder Puff, how could you not be excited during this week?

This year the senior boys really showed what they're made of by beating the juniors at Buff Puff. The senior girls gave it their all, but in the end the juniors triumphed at Powder Puff. Everyone tried their hardest, gave it their best, and had a blast.

2008 Homecoming Football Game

The tradition of a Homecoming football game continued. In Blue Devil style, students came out to support the boys dressed in blue and white and the marching band put on another spectacular performance at halftime, accompanied by Wa-Hi's accomplished dance team. It was a night to remember!

Although our Homecoming Game was rained upon for the second year in a row, the Blue Devils came out determined to win and were able to defeat the West Valley Rams with a score of 26 to 6.

We watched in suspense to see who would be crowned Homecoming Queen and King. In the end, Mia Marrero and Kenny Meyer won the titles.

The Orange Team show their spirit and excitement by forming a pyramid. They earned extra points in the Recess Olympics, a favorite event at Big Blue Weekend.

big blue

Big Blue Weekend started as a way to unite the student body and create school spirit. This annual event is a favorite for Wa-Hi students and has created memories and friendships that normally would not have come about. The camp took place at Wildhorse Canyon, which is more of a resort than a camp, with a large in ground pool, two diving boards, a recreation center with a skate park, a rock climbing wall and several basketball courts. How could you not have fun in a place like that? Students not only had fun in their free time, there was also the Recess Olympics where students bonded through competition. Students also learned important life lessons from speaker Jeff Yalden.

With every school event there has to be at least one mishap and this year at Big Blue Weekend there were a few. Students were able to bond on their assigned bus after one of the buses was pulled over for going 75 mph in a 55 mph zone. Another bus even broke down on the way home and students had to cram together to make room for the misplaced students—as well as lunch time pranks with slugs and peaches and falling out of the swing chair while harnessed in it—the students experienced a few surprises. But overall, Big Blue Weekend went off without a hitch. Students were able to come together and bond as a school and a family.

The ultimate battle of the sexes took place this Fall in the Wa-Hi Performing Arts Center, when the Walla Walla High School Drama Department presented William Shakespeare's Taming of the Shrew.

"For I am he am born to tame you, Kate..."

Tough Love. Senior Jacob Hafen, playing the part of Petruchio, ties the feet of Kristin Glaeser, playing the shrew of the show Katarina. This scene was a favorite for audiences and actors alike. The show also featured a hearty dose of slaps, full on ground wrestling and croch kicks which required that several of the male actors wear their favorite part of any costume: cups.

Cast List: Alix Amo, Peter Anderson, Sara Badwy, Kathryn Bogley, Gregg Bradford, Shannon Bradford, Courtney Bruner, Ryan Campeau, Shelby Dandrea, Teddilynn Dyer, Jamaica Gaines, Kristin Glaeser, Lori Goodwin, Jacob Hafen, Cody Hoffmann, Grace Johnson, Anne Marie Jones, Tani Kitchen, Kolton Kolbaba, Preston Loomer, David Marr, Nigel Melling, Joseph Quiner, Jamie Robison, Thomas Rowley, Willa Schober, Irma Sefrinta, Kaylee Stack, Sierra Tinhof and Stacie Trego

the greatest English writers (1564-1616)

Thank you Mr. Peck for providing the Yearbook staff with pictures!

"I read that I profess, The Art to Love."

You had me at hello. Seniors Ryan Campeau and Tom Rowley share an awkward moment as the adorable Bianca and Lucentio.

"Holla, within!"

"Holla, Within!" This was a favorite line of senior Jamie Robison who played the voluptuous Mother Baptista. It even inspired members of the cast (namely Kristin Glaeser) to compose a rap about this famous Shakespearean comedy. "Word to your mother, Baptista!"

"How near is our master?"

"Nothing cracks audiences up..."

The Taming of the Shrew is a battle of the sexes that still rings true today. Issues of domination, submission, love, forgiveness, and subordination all abound in this Shakespearean comedy. I feel that the actors dealt with the verse with great alacrity as well as skillfully handling the acting components. The play may be four hundred years old, but it is still funny. The most important thing for me is that the characters fall in love.

...like a good, swift kick to the crotch."

-Mr. Senter, Drama Director

And they say good help is hard to find. Kathryn Bogley, Lori Goodwin, Courtney Bruner, Tani Kitchen, Grace Johnson and Shannon Bradford stumble onstage as Petruchio's charmingly klutzy servants. The girls gathered backstage at every show in a huddle to prepare themselves for their big scene. Actors were known to venture out from the dressing rooms to watch the servants get slapped around.

"We will always..."

Based on American author Louisa May Alcott's novel, Little Women: The Musical follows the lives of the March family- Jo, Meg, Beth, Amy, and Marmee. The musical focuses on the main character, Jo, following her from childhood to marriage. The family is held together by their mother, Marmee, who tries to manage raising four little women while her husband is away fighting in the Civil War. As the girls grow up they meet friends along the way. Their "adopted" brother Laurie, the silly Aunt March, the love struck Mr. Brooke, the strict Mr. Laurence, and the awkward Professor Bhaer. With beautiful ballads and catchy tunes, Little Women: The Musical combines love, family and friends together.

Each year students use their talents and energy to create a show unlike any other. The acts range from dancing and musical numbers to comedic skits. The proceeds from Conspiracy of Hope were given to the St. Mary's Cancer Foundation. Conspiracy took place over two nights to accommodate the large amount of students and community members that attended. This year's MC's were seniors Martin Sanks and Preston Loomer who brought many laughs with their wise-cracks and skits. A few of the crowd's favorite acts were the D-Team's synchronized exercise to ABBA's "Dancing Queen" and Cheap Escape's take on the Beatles tune "Come Together".

Stephanie Beltran loved the Luau because she loves to groove with her best friend, Alessandra Ramirez.

Congratulations to this year's ASB for planning a great Homecoming dance. Shannon Bradford and Philip Stevenson give a thumbs up to show that they are having a great time!

Alexis Robison and Charles Gordon pose by a tree to show their love of nature. Treehuggers, anyone?

Maeve Duffy enjoys walking and riding her bicycle, avoiding the harmful gas emissions given off from cars and buses.

Wa-Hi is working to improve its recycling system.

Ann Lowe and Mitchell Jacky ride their mopeds to school everyday. Ann also wears vintage clothing!

Kristine Leier reuses her paper bags for lunch each day and loves to recycle.

Camille Kammer poses next to the recycling bin in her room. Camille is also a card-carrying Greenpeace member and has been a vegetarian for three years. "I have all energy-saving lightbulbs in my room." She and her family do not purchase Kimberly Clark paper products (like Kleenex) because they are the cause of a lot of deforestation. She maintains a garden in the summer, growing lettuce, spinach and tomatoes among other useful foods. "I walk a lot and I ride my bike all the time!" We could all learn a lot from citizens like Camille.

going green

Even though the year of 2009 was rung in with global warming scares, a push for more effective modes of transportation and new energy sources, some students here at Wa-Hi have been trying to save the planet since they can remember. Whether it's walking to school, choosing to ride a moped instead of driving a car, or just recycling, students have really stepped up and taken responsibility to reduce their negative effects on the planet.

Teachers have also done their part by taking advantage of the recycling bins that are now on campus. With Wa-Hi making changes to better the future its hard for other students not to take notice and do their part as well. Most students are becoming more aware of the affect they are having on our planet.

Abraham Lincoln turned 200 this year. Is anyone stumped by that statement? It was the anniversary of his birthday and while he is no longer alive, he meant so much to our country that we still acknowledge him today. Ms. Bickelhaupt's class celebrated the event with food and paper hats modeled after Abe's infamous top hat, created by the students who participated. It was a fantastic way to add some excitement to history and really make it come alive. Plus, aren't we all looking for an excuse to indulge in some cake?

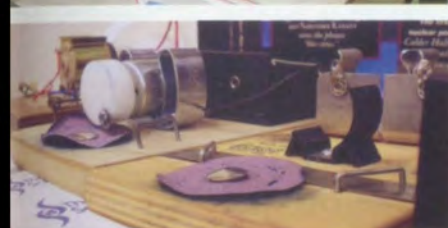

Even teachers took part in the festivities! Ms. Bickelhaupt, Mrs. Gobel and Mrs. Cassetto model their Abe hats.

Robby Wall and Katie Oliver investigate the innards of a rat. One of the more notable lessons in the already popular class Anatomy and Physiology, the rat dissection, interests and disgusts students year after year.

Connor (William) Thorne and Derik Heitzman work diligently on an assignment. A classic indication of Mrs. Johnson's classroom, the name tags help everyone remember each other's names and avoid awkward silence when you want to ask someone a question.

Calvin Bertinelli created this hysterical interpretation of a dinosaur eating a delicious pumpkin cake in his Culinary Arts class.

absorbing facts, acquiring understanding

Being studious in an academic environment is vital to your future. This is what we hear about every year we are in school, with a little tweaking depending on your age. From our younger days, we thought that being smart meant you couldn't have fun. Well open your eyes and see that being intelligent will help you conquer the world, if that is what you want to do after you graduate. So have fun with your last few years in school before you have to pay for it. Become your own person with a little guidance from our staff of trained professionals. You only have a few years of high school, so make it count!

The musically talented at Wa-Hi find a home in one of the many bands. Most students know the band from their energetic performances at football and basketball games but there's much more to this group of students. From marching practices to uniform distribution to cookies from their groupie, the band is together through all sorts of experiences!

The Wa-Hi Marching Band performs at the parade in Leavenworth. This is an annual trip and is always highly anticipated among the band kids!

Wa-Hi's Orchestra concerts are mostly attended by parents, grandparents, and friends. But to those Wa-Hi students who have never attended a concert, this is what you miss:

The Fall Concert, purposely set the week of Halloween, is when the students dress up for the holiday. Many procrastinate until the day of the concert to produce a costume while others, such as Samantha Ball, who dressed up as Dorothy, plan well ahead.

At the Winter Concert, orchestra students are decked out from head to toe in black, a custom of formality and a tradition upheld by the Wa-Hi Orchestra.

But Orchestra is not only about playing and concerts, these Orchestra students also go on trips. Places such as Tacoma, Seattle, and Spokane.

"Overall", as stated by Senior Jeff Ladderud, "Playing the violin is a relaxing activity."

Senior Paul's orchestra lesson is: "There are many strings attached, and you must be able to note the difference between an eighth and sixteenth at the twitch of a baton."

Students dress in formal Orchestra attire: black tuxedos for the boys and black dresses for the girls. Senior Uriel Carmon, on the subject, states, "I have always liked wearing the tuxes and make us appear formal for our concerts. The only problem is that the tuxes are too tight, a guy can't move in them. I need room to move."

Like all aspiring musicians, Orchestra students display their musical talents by playing their instruments: violin, viola, cello or bass in Orchestra.

Students show their uniqueness by purchasing out-of-the-norm instruments and cases.

Displayed to the right is Sam's black violin, Emily Bell's blue violin and black fabric case, Morgan Leniham with his cello fiber case, and Amanda Hamilton's plaid case.

Of course, the students don't hand paint their instruments themselves but do choose the color and the case.

Because customized instruments and cases are not sold in town, they are bought online or in a different city, the ability of possessing such a unique instrument/case is truly a rarity.

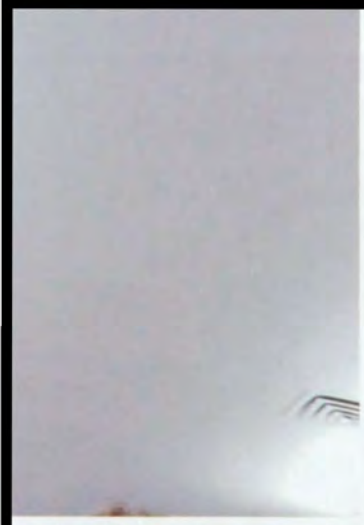

As celloist Morgan Leniham says, "If you don't have a fiber case, then you're not cool."

Amnesty International

Mrs. Dohe

Amnesty International is an organization advocating human rights and fighting for prisoners of conscience. The club members participate in Bummed Out and Mr. Wa-Hi. They celebrate World Peace Day and Aids Day and this year, they've added the celebration of the Chinese New Year and a focus on Darfur.

Art Club

Mrs. Laufenburg

In this club, you get down and messy in with paint and glue! Students gather together to channel their artistic abilities and bounce ideas off each other. It doesn't matter what the project looks like, it is the atmosphere you will remember the most.

ASB Executive Council

Mrs. DeBritz

Executive Council is made up of elected ASB and class officers, and appointed commissioners. This group meets monthly to approve ASB fundraisers and make decisions on other fund requests. Executive Council also meets daily to plan all major ASB events that benefit the student body.

Boys Federation

Mr. Magnaghi

This club is meant for young men set out to do community service. Past years have included leaf raking, snow shoveling, and raising money for a family whose son needed surgery. They also sponsor the Mother Son Banquet and fundraisers such as Student vs. Staff Football game and Battle of the Bands.

Culinary Arts

Mrs. Buttice

Working with unstable herbs is something these club members have to deal with. But it's also a club where you can eat all your projects!

Drama Club

Mr. Senter

Drama Club is a fun-filled snack. It's zesty and nutritious, crunchy and gooey, with a full day's supply of Vitamin D. It also promotes the importance of dramatic arts at Wa-Hi. They put on the Drama Club Variety Show and took an exciting trip to Spokane over Spring Break to see a production of Wicked.

Empathy

Mrs. Duncan

This club strives to raise awareness in young people of the various ways they can give back to the community and world. They are trying to erase apathy through education.

FBLA

Mr. Reardon

Future Business Leaders of America is a professional service organization which promotes the development of business and leadership skills. Members experience the corporate world, meet local business leaders, and compete in events at various levels. Our highlight is experiencing the excitement and networking opportunities at the state leadership conference.

FCCLA

Mrs. Buttice

The purpose of this organization is to help individuals improve personal, family, and community living through organized activities that supplement the homemaking education program at Wa-Hi. Most members are now enrolled in the culinary arts courses on campus.

FPS

Mr. Buissink

Teams of four students explore challenges and propose action plans to solve complicated societal problems involving cultural prejudices, conservation, fundraising, and elderly care.

French Club

Mrs. Tucker

French Club is centered around exploring the language, food, and culture of France. Various activities throughout the year include French cheese tasting, watching French films, a trip to Lehman Hot Springs and an end of the year dinner.

German Club

Mr. Schafer

German Club plans activities for students to have fun while discovering German culture. Some of these activities include German Lunch Parties with foosball games and food, game nights at Coffee Perk, an outing to Lehman Hot Springs and attending many other German inspired events that occur in the community.

Government Affairs

Mr. Peasley, Mr. Michels, and Mr. Plucker

The Government Affairs Committee is a group that discusses a wide array of both foreign and domestic politics. Its purpose is to explore the unique political views of Wa-Hi students who help to make up the United States of America.

Journal

Mrs. Buissink

The Wa-Hi Journal staff manages the Wa-Hi Web site's Blue Devil Spotlight and Latest News; it also produces the newspaper, the Wa-Hi Journal. Students are graphic designers, staff writers, editors, photographers, and business managers.

Key Club

Ms. Mann

Key Club is a coeducational service club for students. The Key Club at Wa-Hi has provided more than 700 hours of service to the school and community. Some of the events are: Trunk-or-Treat, Kiwanis Food Booth at the Fair, Trick-or-Treat for UNICEF, Drive-by-Raking, and Kiss-A-Senior.

Knowledge Bowl

Mrs. Stillman

Knowledge Bowl is open to students who wish to compete on an academic level with others throughout the state. Practice sessions are held at Wa-Hi and students attend meets around the region during the fall. This year's team did Wa-Hi proud by competing very well.

LA Reps

Mrs. DeBritz

Legislative Assembly is made up of elected representatives from each homeroom class. This group is led by the student body officers who meet once a month to make decisions about student events, clubs, approve expenses, and allow communication between ASB officers and the student body.

Latino Club

Mr. Reyes

Latino Club is very involved in community service. Students have visited different universities and colleges in Washington state throughout the school year. Members establish personal goals to attend college after high school. The club also serves to promote cultural awareness on our campus through a number of various activities.

Mariachi Club

Ms. Woods

The Wa-Hi Mariachi Club exists to promote the awareness of the Latino culture through music and dance and to increase a sense of community between cultures at Wa-Hi. Students play the guitarron, guitar, vihuela, trumpet, violin, and sing! The club performs on campus and around the community.

NHS

Science Club

Mrs. Payne

The Science Club meets regularly in Room S-18 to eat treats and talk. Some of the talk includes making plans for social events, fundraising, field trips, and guest speakers.

Tech Club

Mr. DeBroeck

Tech Club members work on projects having to do with anything in digital technology. They meet every other Thursday in the Computer Technology lab to hang out with other people from the Lab and work on computers. Tech club starts right after school until Mr. DeBroeck yells at them to leave.

Youth and Government

It's not just for farmers anymore, but for everyone who is, or will be involved in agriculture. Just being part of agriculture classes gives one the opportunity to go on many field trips. The highlight of the year is the weekend retreat to Bluewood in Dayton, giving everyone attending a chance to go down the slopes, play tons of games and gain each other's trust. After winter retreat, FFA members feel more like they're part of one big family than just members of a club. FFA also competes in national events, winning several awards.

Drew Swenson has a little too much fun while playing body tag, but we'll let it pass this time since it gives us all a good laugh.

It's all fun and games, until everyone ends up in a dog pile... then it becomes crazy fun and and games.

After breaking the boundaries and gaining trust, this game was very entertaining. In this activity everyone is told to sit on their chairs sideways, while forming a circle, then lay back onto the other person's lap. Once this was accomplished, the chairs were pulled out from under them, which then created one huge "balancing trust circle".

The Varsity Wa-Hi football team hustled their way to 5 wins out of 9 games this season. There were high hopes expected from the senior players this year and fans were not disappointed. The year started off strong with 3 wins against Hermiston, Eisenhower and Eastmont. The most exciting game this year for the Wa-Hi fans was the Homecoming game, when the Wa-Hi boys completely thrashed the West Valley Rams, 26-6, redeeming themselves after last year's loss. Even though the rain poured on the fans, they stayed to make sure the boys held their lead.

Most of the Varsity seniors have perfected a pre-game ritual. Kyle Jones listens to Disturbed and Kenny Meyer always rocks out to "Meant to Live" by Switchfoot. Whether it's a favorite song or just throwing some passes before the game starts, every player has his way of getting ready for that first kick off. Touchdowns can be exciting too, "especially when you strip the ball from the running back and score a 65 yard touchdown" says senior Joel Pimentel. The Wa-Hi Football team displayed their strength by working together to have an amazing season.

Junior Emily Petri smiles as she cheers at a basketball game. This year's cheerleading squad was unique in that it was comprised almost entirely of juniors with only one senior, captain Kate Tucker.

Go, fight, win! The trademark cheer that everyone knows, regardless if they have gone to a single game or not. The flips. The jumps. The stunts. They are the girls that get the crowd pepped up during the game. The enthusiasm that spreads through the crowd pushes our players to go that extra mile.

Cross country is an individual sport, but in many ways, is a team sport. Everyone cheers for their teammates and does their best to keep everyone motivated. Team members have morning practices and are crammed in buses for long drives to competitions. Of course, all this team bonding creates family-like relationships.

The veterans of cross country and the coaches love to impart their wisdom and watch how the freshmen push themselves. They encourage each other to reach their goals.

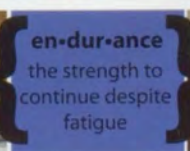

When they are not training, the runners goof off in a responsible way, with inside jokes like, "...let's go bowling", "backathome" and even "make a man out of Denali".

The Wrestling team this year had an amazing season which resulted in sending five wrestlers to regionals and three to state. The Varsity team ended their season with a conference record of 3 wins and 3 losses and a total of 6 wins and 5 losses. Senior David Marquez placed 7th followed by senior Trey Haines who placed 8th.

In order to prepare for a match David Marquez would enter his "serious mode" by listening to music and jumping around trying to work up a sweat. While Trey would use visualization by laying down somewhere by himself and thinking about who he needs to pin to win. Both of these wrestlers will move on to perform at the college level. Another senior wrestler, Joseph Butenhoff, is going to miss being coached by his father, assistant coach John Butenhoff. Joe was most excited when he placed in regionals and headed to districts to end his final season here at Wa-Hi.

Coach: Keven Peck

"I am very excited about the upcoming season. Every grade level is represented on the team, so it will make for some interesting dynamics. There has been a lot of growth, mentally and physically, in our returning players. I know they are excited as well to test their new knowledge and skills.

We have three seniors on the court this season; Kindall Gehrett, Jennifer Lopez, and Anne Schulz. Their leadership along with our other returning varsity players, is vital to our success. The CBL offers some of the best competition in the state, so I'm looking forward to seeing how the season plays out."

As a new year starts, the girls tennis team has introduced new members and each one has their own special quality. Each moment they have together, the team bonds and has a great time (working hard at the same time, of course!).

"The most memorable moment for me thus far was playing Wenatchee. Audrey and I took the match to a third set, my first ever against Wenatchee. We ended up losing, but I got an ace off them! Totally worth it!"

-Jennifer Lopez

With each new challenge comes a better accomplishment throughout the season. Each team member sweats it out in practice and in games.

As a new start to the tennis year approaches, there come new challenges and new team members. They have learned to work with each other and stand out to other schools in the way they treat other opponents and their sportsmanship on the courts. Bus rides are loud and exhilarating. Coach Peck tends to put on his big earphones to block out the sound of each voice, while they sneak graham crackers and frosting in the back. When one wins, all cheer. When one loses, all give their respect. This great team comes from the quality of the person and the stature of each individual. This year, each member has learned new tactics, such as top spin serves, mean forehands, and great angled volleys. Together as a team they make up some of the greatest girls at Wa-Hi. They are the Walla Walla High School Girls Tennis team.

"The 2009 version of Blue Devil Boys Tennis appears to be another strong group of fine athletes. We lost 6 players to graduation last year but have 7 returning lettermen led by seniors Mac Richards, Matt Johnson and sophomore Cameron Davis. Our league changed from the 7 team CBL to the 14 team Big 9 and we play each of the 13 opponents once in dual matches. The travel schedule is extensive but our lads seem to thrive on the adventure of road trips."

Most boy tennis players know that a singles match is fast and a doubles match is even faster. Quick reflexes and smooth moves are a top priority in every match. Despite all the tough challenges that this team has gone through, they always seem to pull out strong. Each member works hard together and individually to make a productive team, even if all it takes is chewing down the last bit of a Miner's burger. # dare devils...

Not only are the students at our school hittin' the books but they take on a little bit of adventure and show off their wild side. From riding quads to hanging off the side of a horse, they are the epiphany of dare devils.

four-wheeler:

a small, all-terrain motor vehicle seating one person and having four wheels with large tires. Used for racing or just riding.

If Blake Nass isn't fly-fishing, or snowboarding, you can find him spending his free time riding his quad. He loves the outdoors and has a definite need for speed.

BMX:

short for bicycle motocross; the extreme version of bicycle racing. Riders perform tricks and overcome obstacles in order to come out first.

Breanna Eng loves BMX. She has been a state champion for three years and was district champion last year. Although she has had her share of awards, this isn't all fun and games. She has had two concussions, injured ribs and various scars to tell the tales. Her favorite track is Smith Rock in Redmond, Oregon and every Fourth of July weekend you can find her there competing in the Oregon Cup.

cycling:

the use of bicycles as a form of recreation or sport. It is done on roads and paths, across open country or even over snow and ice. The sport has grown to include over one billion riders worldwide.

Phillip Somers has only been cycling since last year, but already he is working hard to pedal faster. If he's not out in the country riding then he's thinking about it. Since January of 2008, he has not gone a week without jumping on his bike. From the Tour of Walla Walla to placing 10th out of 50 riders in the Circuit Race, he is truly passionate about this sport. In fact, he plans to follow through with it all his life, even if it means racing wheelchairs in a nursing home.

In November of 2008 Eva Reich and Emma Burgess ran the Seattle Marathon (which covered 26.2 miles!) in an amazing 4 hours and 26 minutes. The feeling of crossing the finish line was worth all their hard work. The duo plan to run in another marathon this fall.

marathon:

a long, cross-country footrace that requires plenty of effort and endurance.

trick riding:

a form of dangerous horse riding stunts which includes the rider standing upright on a horse, while the horse is galloping. Other stunts include hanging upside down off of the horse by a strap or jumping on and off the horse which is running at a gallop.

Nicole Aichele participates in both trick riding and barrel racing. She first began when she was very young and has since become engulfed in this intense sport. She is the 2008-2009 World Champion for the Barrel Racers National 4D with her palomino mare "Blondie." In 2007 she broke the arena record at the TRAC in Pasco with her mare "Rosie." With her loyal steed, Aichele has been listed as one of the top ten money earning youth barrel racers in the world.

Wa-Hi Faculty

Before the lessons were planned...

The little know facts about the talented Wa-Hi Staff

Mr. Cummings - P.E. Teacher

I've had the unique opportunity to have played four different world champions in their respective sports: ping pong against the champion from China, Icho Ping, during a world tour in 1977, tennis against Arthur Ashe in 1971 (Seattle trip), basketball free throw shooting against Ted St. Martin, who had the world record in consecutive shots made in 1971, and the pickleball champion from Bellevue who had recently won the world record title in 1976. Unfortunately I didn't defeat any of them.

Curtis Schafer - Language Teacher

I lived in Austria for one year and in Spain for five years. Many interesting experiences such as exploring castles, climbing bell towers, riding bikes in the countryside, visiting with the townspeople, watching the bull runs in Spain, and experiencing an Alpenhorn festival on the top of a mountain in Switzerland.

Kathy Pritcher - Math Teacher

I have a varsity letter in skiing from WSU. My first meet was at Anthony Lakes and it snowed a foot the night before the race. I was so scared that I skied horribly. It was the only event I got to race in.

Graig Buchanan - Auto Tech Teacher

I lived in Fairbanks, Alaska for two and half years. One winter it reached -55 degrees. In March it was -40. It snowed once that March when it was cold and the snowflakes were like soapsuds, they were so light.

Arthur Curry - Science Teacher

During college, a friend and I decided to take a semester off and bicycle through the southeast U.S. to experience the culture and sights. We carried everything on our bikes and camped as we went along. We cycled 2,200 miles in two months and met a lot of interesting characters along the way. We saw some amazing country, experienced southern hospitality, had a few close calls, lived on a commune for a few days, and passed through seven states.

Kerri Tucker - Language Teacher

Living in Grenoble, France for a Semester Study Abroad program, we took a three day weekend on the French Riviera. In the 1980's, during a time of Libyan terrorist bombings in major train stations in France, we were on our way home when I realized I had been charged the equivalent of $800 for a tube of 30spf Bain de Soleil (suntan oil) instead of $8. I had to take the late train back and missed my connection in Lyon resulting in a night with other unfortunates in a train station and a late arrival home. My host family saw my sunburn, and feared I'd been in a bombing that took place that weekend in Marseilles.

behind the book

It's a well-known fact that the Yearbook staff exists to make the yearbook. But not everyone knows that we tend to develop a certain attachment to the pages we create. A few of the staffers tell you what page they were especially proud of.

"We're really proud of the endsheets! We felt like it took half our lives but it turned out really awesome."

-Rachael Adkins
Rachael and Alex Bennett completed the endsheets.

"Claudia and I have never been in Yearbook before and we were determined to do something different. We changed our idea like five times!"

-Loren Eng
Loren and Claudia Vargas completed the Summer page, page 98.

We're on fire! This year's Yearbook Staff poses at Trunk or Treat, an annual event hosted by Key Club. This year the staff decorated their trunk with a fire truck theme and managed to win the award for best decorations. This is the second year the staff pulled off this win, having won last year with their pirate theme.

This year's staff was different than years past in that it had boys! Four of them, to be exact. Adding a different opinion and some testosterone to the group, we appreciated their presence!

already winning awards and it's not even in print yet

The Yearbook Staff had the opportunity to go to Yearbook Camp for the second time this summer. When we say "Yearbook Camp", people tend to give us weird looks, so we'll explain. It's basically a three-day Yearbook boot camp. The publishing company Jostens hosts this seminar and plans the entire three days. They have every second crammed with lectures on InDesign (the program used to create the pages of the book), trends in other books, caption-writing, photo-taking, cleass-leading and all other topics even remotely related to the creation of a yearbook.

Throughout the entire camp, there is a "project" that you are asked to complete looming over your head. The project is basically to start your yearbook for the next year; choose a theme, design a cover, design endsheets (the cardstock things at the beginning and end of the book), design a couple sample pages... but the biggest part of the project is to plan the ladder. The ladder is this intense breakdown of every page of the book and you have to decide what's going on all 200+ pages in the 40 minutes they allot you every day for project work.

Margaret Kammer, Jamie Robison and Stephani Conatser (the attendees this summer) spent hours- hours- working on the project for this year's book. They were in the computer lab until 11 when the janitors had to kick them out and even then, they went back to their dorms and worked into the wee hours of the morning. "I don't think I slept more than nine hours the entire three days," reminisces Margaret fondly.

At the end of camp before everyone leaves, the projects are turned in and judged. The leader of the camp announces the outstanding projects to all of the schools at the end-of-camp celebration. All the hard work the girls put in to the project paid off- Wa-Hi won a new digital camera, an all-in-one printer, the honor of being considered the large school with the best Yearbook in the entire state and their new campaign slogan: "It's already winning awards and it's not even in print yet!"

Now it's been printed and we hope it has won you.

The girls with their adviser, Mrs. DeBroeck and their Jostens representative Tim Corrigan after just having won the award at camp.

A little goofy after another long night, the girls can't seem to hold it together long enough to snap a picture with the project that would soon make them winners. Jamie contrived a brilliant plan to attach a $1 bill to the project and tell them "not to spend it all in one place." "I'm pretty sure that's why we won," says Jamie.

The inexplicable YB Camp tradition of eating Swedish Fish with chopsticks continued this summer.
